Names and attributes of God to use in prayer

Sometimes we struggle to really press in when we are praying for others because we simply run out of things to pray for. We came across something Bill Hybels said he did to help expand his prayer life, and have found adapting it really helpful. It begins with the idea that to expand your prayer life you have to expand your view of God, your understanding of his character, and your vocabulary about him and his kingdom.

When you are praying for a particular situation, glance down this list and see which names and attributes of God's amazing and huge person, particularly resonate with it. Jot these down and use them one by one to pray for the people, country or issue you are lifting up to God.

We've used plenty of Biblical and traditional terms in our list, but we have also included some modern words or concepts which hold a new resonance for us – for example 'future-proof' as well as 'faithful'.

(We recommend making your own list, with words that help you, as an even better start and fuel for prayer – for more on this, see 'Creative ideas – Bringing an outward focus to personal devotions' at www.thesanctuarycentre.org/whereworldandworshipmeet-prayer)
