$\text{♩} = 76$

I dare to pray for mercy Lord I dare to call for your justice light

I dare to trust your peace is coming soon. To believe you still defend the poor.

God of mercy King of justice Lord of compassion Father of all hope. Your mercy is calling even as your judgments are falling Your grace is restoring That all might see. (You Prince of peace) I dare to believe all things are possible To fall on my knees at your nail scarred feet Knowing your arms are still mighty to save I dare to trust you'll make a way You're the God of mercy

King of justice Lord of compassion Father of all hope. Your mercy is calling even as your judgments are falling Your grace is restoring That all might see. There's no nation too hopeless No
